President Warns Feuds in Cabinet Must Not Continue

FATHERS MAY GET ANOTHER DEFERMENT

Most of the Dads May Still Be in Civilian Clothes As Late As October

IMMUNITY IS QUALIFIED

By CHARLES MOLONY

Washington, July 16—(P)—Most of the nation's fathers will still be in civilian clothes by October, perhaps much longer, say draft officials who are counting on single and childless men to meet the armed forces' requirements.

This continued immunity from selective service applies however only to those fathers living with and supporting children born before last September 15 and working at jobs outside the non-deferred list. About 6,500,000 have those qualifications.

This was the draft picture given reporters by Major Emmett Solomon, of Selective Service's Manpower Division yesterday.

The 1,566,000 single and childless married men already classified as available for immediate induction will fill the quotas for July, August and September, although some will win reclassification on appeal and about 40 per cent will be rejected and put into class 4-F.

Supplementing this were these factors:

1. At least 50,000 youths who become 18 each month can be counted upon with certainty to land in uniform. An even greater number of the total of 90,000 reaching that age monthly may prove inductible.

2. An indefinite number will be "recovered" from the pool of 2,976,000 men rejected before because of physical, mental, educational or moral disqualifications.

3. Many of the 705,000 single and childless married men now holding occupational deferment for farm work are likely to be called by local boards after the harvest season ends.

4. Occupational deferments for non-agricultural work expire constantly and most of this group of 1,373,000 are single or childless married men.

On the other hand, it was said, only unexpected developments can continue immunity for fathers throughout a prolonged war.

More than half the total of 22,184,000 draft registrants 18 through 37 either have entered the armed forces already or have been rejected as unqualified.

Wallace and Jones Both Stripped of Broad Powers As Commander-in-Chief Cracks Down

CHANGES ANNOUNCED

BULLETIN
Washington, July 16—(P)—A Board of Economic Warfare (BEW) spokesman said today President Roosevelt's action in reorganizing the BEW into an Office of Economic Warfare (OEW) undoubtedly means that Milo Perkins, BEW director, is out of a job.

BY TOM REEDY

Washington, July 16—(P)—Sharply denouncing the row between Vice President Wallace and Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones, President Roosevelt stripped both of broad powers and served notice today that anyone else in his official family who feuds in public will be fired.

For almost three weeks, Mr. Roosevelt watched—as he said with surprise—Wallace and Jones slam each other in print over methods of stockpiling strategic war materials.

Last night, in about the same vein that he pronounced "a plague on both your houses" when rival labor unions were warring a few years ago, the president cracked down. In a sweeping order, he:

1—Abolished the Board of Economic Warfare (BEW), of which Wallace was the policy-making head.

2—Took away from Jones' Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC), four major agencies dealing with the economy.

3—Reorganized the BEW into the Office of Economic Warfare (OEW).

4—Reorganized the RFC into the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC).

Washington, July 16—(P)—President Roosevelt, upholding his French policy, said today all the French empire now appears to be working for the common cause—to liberate France and defeat the Axis.

The president described as vicious propaganda certain criticisms attacking the government's policy since France fell, saying it was very unfair, incorrect, and derogatory to a well-ordered plan going back several years.

The president told his press-radio conference he did not intend to use force to take over Martinique and Guadeloupe, French Caribbean possessions, as some critics of his policy had urged but waited to avoid bloodshed and consequences which would have cut into the overall war picture.

It now seems clear, he added, that practically the entire French empire is working to free France and beat back her oppressors.

PATIENT SUICIDES

Norristown, July 16—(P)—F. Edmunds, 74, hanged himself, Coroner W. J. Rushong said, in a private sanitarium where he had been receiving treatment since his wife was killed by a Pennsylvania railroad train two years ago in saving him as he swayed toward the tracks.

Recreation Park With Pool Object of V. F. W. Purchase

Warren after many years will have a recreation park with a swimming pool and other features that will give the people of the city and vicinity a place to picnic and play. The project which has been under consideration by the Veterans of Foreign Wars came to a head last night when the organization purchased the Lindsey property in Pleasant township near the end of the concrete road leading out towards Heart's Content.

The land lies in a most advantageous location for the purpose for which it is desired as a portion of the land is level and some of it is covered with trees and is of a nature readily adaptable for picnic grounds.

Sill Run passes through the land and it furnishes a volume of water sufficient to care for a swimming pool and to keep a constant stream passing through the pool. It is expected that an arrangement will be made much as at Twin Lakes near Kane where a run feeds the pool. Water can also be found at a depth of 20 feet on the property and it is also on the lines of the Pennsylvania Electric Company and gas company so that all facilities are at the gates of the park.

Work of surveying and mapping the plot with a view of laying out a recreation park will be under way soon and there may be some work done this fall toward the forming of the pool and other features.

FRESH BLOWS ARE STRUCK BY RUSSIANS

Elements of Ten Nazi Divisions Are Sent Reeling Back in the Orel Sector

TANK LOSS ENORMOUS

By WILLIAM MCGAFFIN

Moscow, July 16—(P)—The Russians struck fresh blows at the Germans today from points 37 miles north and 25 miles east of Orel, sending elements of ten Nazi divisions reeling back and scattered in rain-soaked forests and fields.

Other Red divisions whittled down the minor German gains in the Belgorod bulge some 165 miles to the south and repulsed all fresh enemy attacks which continued at a furious pace, dispatches said.

German tank losses had reached the enormous toll of 3,051; 1,686 planes had been destroyed; and upwards of 54,000 men had been killed or captured in the 12 day battle of attrition, on the basis of official Russian estimates.

In a special communique last night announcing the counter-offensive launched three days ago, the Russians said their swift thrusts north and east of Orel, 200 miles south of Moscow, had resulted in a 26-mile advance that recaptured 110 towns, left more than 12,000 Germans dead and destroyed 109 Nazi tanks, 294 planes and 47 guns besides capturing piles of supplies.

The special bulletin said the column attacking from the north of Orel had penetrated 28 miles into the German line to within 18 miles of the Orel-Bryansk railway and the other column driving from the east had pushed ahead 15 miles on a 18-mile front to within 28 miles of the city.

SHIPYARD EMPLOYEE IS FREED IN SLAYING

Philadelphia, July 16—(P)—James H. Brown, captain of guards at the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company's all- negro No. 4 yard at Chester, Pa., was freed today of a voluntary manslaughter charge in the fatal shooting of an employee during a disorder at the yard last June 16.

A navy court martial exonerated Brown, a member of the Coast Guard Temporary Reserve, yesterday after two days of testimony. Brown said that he fired low and that he had fired two warning shots at Frank Giddings, 24, died after striking him in the head with a brick.

GARDENS TO BOOST FAIRS

Harrisburg, July 16—(P)—Victory garden produce will be a leading attraction at the nearly 50 county fairs which the Department of Commerce reported today are scheduled for this summer. A department bulletin said many amateur gardeners, moved by pride in their accomplishments, will be exhibitors for the first time.

Big Inch Pipe Line Is All But Finished

Government Dignitaries to Witness Welding of Last Section Monday

PUMPING IS UNDER WAY

Cincinnati, July 16—(P)—Big inch is all but finished. Test runs of crude oil are being pumped through the eastern section of the $95,000,000 transcontinental pipeline from Norris City, Ill., and next Monday at Phoenixville, Pa., government dignitaries, including Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, will witness welding of the last section of the 1,341 miles of 24-inch pipe.

Monday is 15 days short of a year from the time the first section was laid.

Officials of the Petroleum Administration for War and War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., said pumping started at Norris City Wednesday and oil is moving eastward 33 1-3 miles a day. Engineers are checking the run for leaks or other "bugs."

Big Inch, conceived to help meet the wartime oil crisis, now stretches from Longview, in the East Texas oil fields, to New York and Philadelphia refineries. At Phoenixville Junction the line splits, one branch going to Linden, N. J., the other to Philadelphia.

The 15,000 men who ditched plains and mountain, woods and cornfields, and laid and welded the pipe aren't quitting. They're staying on the job to finish the 20-inch gasoline line from Beaumont, Tex., paralleling big inch most of the way. Officials of WEP headquarters predict the smaller line will be ready in December. The two lines are being built under appropriations totaling $170,000,000.

Burt E. Hull of Houston, president of four Texas Pipeline companies on loan as general manager of WEP, said that although big inch is virtually ready for service, it will be filled slowly. The first (Turn to Page Six)

U-Boat Pack Is Routed By Convoy Planes

Washington, July 16—(P)—In a series of anti-submarine battles in the North Atlantic, the planes of a single baby aircraft carrier recently successfully attacked ten German submarines, definitely destroying two and probably destroying eight others, and delivered two convoys safely across the Atlantic to American forces poised for actions against Hitler's Europe.

The story of the gallant little flat top, officially designated only as "Carrier B," was told by the navy today in a detailed account of how these auxiliary floating air fields are helping to clinch victory for the United Nations in the vital battle of the Atlantic.

Altogether, the carrier's accomplishments included attacks on 11 submarines, with ten sunk or probably sunk, dispersing of two wolf packs which struck at two different times at war-laden cargo ships, the capture of 41 German prisoners and the safe delivery of the vital war goods. One submarine got away.

HONORABLE CAPITULATION IS ONLY HOPE

Statement Gives People Choice of Surrendering or Being Blasted Out of the War

TO AVOID DEVASTATION

Washington, July 16—(P)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill today gave Italy her choice to surrender honorably, or be blasted out of the war.

In a virtual ultimatum, the Allied leaders said the time has come for the Italian people "to decide whether Italians shall die for Mussolini and Hitler—or live for Italy and civilization."

The statement added: "The skies over Italy are dominated by the vast air armadas of the United States and Great Britain," and "Italy's sea coasts are threatened by the greatest accumulation of British and Allied sea power ever concentrated in the Mediterranean."

In a joint statement issued simultaneously at the White House and in London (at 7 a. m.) the two United Nations leaders told the people of Italy that the sole hope of Italy's survival "lies in honorable capitulation to the overwhelming power of the military forces of the United Nations."

With Allied forces sweeping across Sicily toward the Italian mainland, the president and British prime minister in their message broadcast to Italy from Algiers and other adjacent Allied points, said they could take no satisfaction in invading Italian soil and bringing the tragic devastation of war home to the Italian people. The release of the joint statement, which followed several informal invitations in recent months that Italy get out of the war, was the signal for a propaganda drive which included the dropping of thousands of leaflets on Italy by (Turn to Page Eleven)

Pittsburgh, July 16—(P)—The business index for the Pittsburgh area spurted up 16 points to 167.0 per cent of the 1935-39 average with the resumption of work in additional coal mines largely responsible, the University of Pittsburgh's bureau of business research reported.

The increase on top of an 11-point gain in the preceding week, still left activity four points lower than at the end of the week ended June 19. The big coal shutdown which started June 20 had sent the average rate to slightly above 141 points, lowest mark since the coal strike in the spring of 1941.

ALLEGHENY COLLEGE CEREMONIES OCT. 16

Meadow, July 16—(P)—Dr. Charles S. Miller, chairman of a faculty committee, said the inauguration of Dr. J. Ritchie Schultz as 14th president of Allegheny College will take place Saturday, October 16.

Ceremonies will be simple, he said, because of wartime conditions. The college also announced cancellation of its annual homecoming, which had been set for the same date.

Long-Time Employees of the Hammond Iron Works To Be Honored at Presentation

Several long-time employees of the Hammond Iron Works will be honored by receiving "E" pins during the ceremony to be held at Russell Field Tuesday marking the presentation to that company of the Army-Navy Production Award for high achievement in the production of war materials.

The Hammond Iron Works was organized in the fall of 1900 by William Hammond, assisted by several men then prominent in the affairs of Warren. Thomas Hammond, of Williamsport, also held an interest in the company, which constructed riveted steel storage tanks for local oil producers. The company plant burned three years later, but was immediately rebuilt and has since been expanded many times.

Under the early leadership of William Hammond and following his death in 1913, under that of Harry D. Kopf, the company

Costly Fire Visits Local Lumber Plant

Three Dry Kilns of Commercial Lumber Company Are Damaged

COVERED BY INSURANCE

Fire starting shortly after 12:20 this afternoon damaged three of the big dry kilns at the plant of the Commercial Lumber Company and damaged a large amount of white pine lumber. According to John Young, of the company, the loss will be between $25,000 and $35,000.

Workmen were engaged in making repairs to the middle kiln when in some manner fire started and the flames, getting into the hollow ventilator walls on each side of the middle kiln, broke into a bad blaze. An alarm was sounded at once and before the firemen could get on the scene the flames were mounting high.

Chief Kropf put the big high pressure truck with its pump on the east side of the fire and sent another truck to the west side, where water could be pumped with another pumper truck. He then called for the turning on of the reservoir and in a few minutes a half dozen streams of water were playing on the fire.

The blaze was knocked down in a hurry and the job of putting out the remaining small fire that were burning in various parts of the structure.

TYPHUS IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, July 16—(P)—The Pittsburgh health department last night reported discovery of what it termed the first case of typhus ever found in the city. Health Director I. Hope Alexander said Antoine de Pasqua, 61, admitted to Passavant Hospital June 25, is suffering from the disease.

Willkie Talks Of Entering The Primary

New York, July 16—(P)—Wendell L. Willkie will be a candidate for the 1944 Republican presidential nomination—if Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, enters the Illinois preferential primary next April.

The 1940 GOP nominee showed his hand yesterday, challenging McCormick to a campaign for the Illinois primary vote.

"Have you seen reports that Col. McCormick may run in the Illinois primary for the Republican presidential nomination?" "Yes," was the reply. "I certainly hope it is true. For then I could really make the issue clear—the greatest issue of the day—American relations to the rest of the world and liberal internal domestic policies."

Asked if he would enter other preferential primaries, Willkie said that could be decided later. His present plan is to make a complete survey in January, then decide future moves.

When Willkie's statement was made, McCormick was in Canada and there was no immediate indication as to if and when an answer would be forthcoming.

Observers Believe Axis Planning to Evacuate Island

Battering Down Bitter Opposition Americans and Tommies Take Thirteen More Towns, 18,000 Prisoners

GERMANS DESPERATELY CONTEST EVERY INCH

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE Associated Press War Editor

The British Eighth Army has plunged to within 15 miles of the strategic seaport of Catania, after beating back German armored columns for the second time, and the Allied troops advancing everywhere on the Sicilian front have captured 12 towns and more than 20,000 prisoners, it was announced today.

These new successes came as military observers suggested that Germany might abandon Sicily soon, and as the Allies in a virtual ultimatum called upon the Italian people to overthrow fascism and surrender.

German armored columns were defeated in a battle north of Lentini by the Eighth Army, headquarters said. Here the Nazis have been concentrating strength to block the British coastal push.

The Germans had first tried to halt the Eighth Army by an attack aimed at Augusta, it was thrown back.

American troops scored much of the new gains on the long left flank.

The capture of 14 towns named in an Allied communique—capture of some had already been announced in special bulletins—included Vizzini, Niscemi, Canicatti, Campobello, Riesi, Sortino and Biscari. Thus the Allies were strongly established on a deep border of the southern and eastern coasts stretching 12 to 15 miles and more inland.

The British driving up the east coast upon Catania "made further progress against German troops who desperately contested every inch of ground," and American troops striking several miles across difficult hill country "captured further important bridgeheads." These U. S. troops inflicted severe losses on the Axis defenders.

U. S. troops have captured 15,992 prisoners, headquarters announced, and heavy losses have been inflicted on armored units of the German Hermann Goering division.

Strong naval forces supported the British advance and their guns blasted again at Catania airfield. At headquarters in North Africa, military spokesmen said Allied successes so far and overwhelmingly superiority might force the Axis to fight only rear-guard actions while the bulk of troops and equipment was evacuated.

While this and the strong new Allied demand to the Italian people to capitulate brightened hopes for easier and quicker victory, the Axis high commands declared their counterblows were halting Allied advances.

In the thunderous air war, Allied heavy bombers shattered (Turn to Page Eleven)

HARD COAL CONTRACT IS STILL UNSETTLED

New York, July 16—(P)—Agreement on a wage contract between anthracite coal operators and the United Mine Workers Union before the soft coal case is settled appears doubtful, according to a source close to the operators.

The source, who declined to be quoted by name, said yesterday that it seems apparent that the consummation of an anthracite wage contract has been stymied by the bituminous situation.

Unwarranted Trips Denied

Pittsburgh, July 16—(P)—Alvin J. Williams, district manager of the Office of Price Administration, has denied that he took unwarranted trips in his automobile. Williams' office issued a statement, declaring that all trips made by the manager to Centerville, Pa., were to his 1,000-acre farm near that city, and that he had obtained OPA permission to make the trips prior to his connection with OPA.

The statement came in answer to a letter released by Watson M. McKee, who was ousted last week as chairman of the McKeesport ration board. McKee said he received the letter from a dozen Centerville residents and that it accused Williams of making "week-end pleasure trips to his summer home."

Citation Is Given Local Salvage Head

Wylie T. Corbett, Chairman of County Group, Honored at Conference

PRAISED FOR HIS WORK

Perhaps the high light of the Regional Conference of Civilian War Services held in Warren yesterday was the awarding of a citation to Wylie T. Corbett, chairman of the Warren County Salvage Committee.

In making the award to Mr. Corbett for his outstanding work it was made known that he is no respecter of quotas and has consistently smashed every quota that has been assigned to him. His latest feat was in the recent scrap drive when with a quota of 1500 tons he rolled up over 2700 tons. His work with tin cans has been outstanding and the Warren shipments have been given recognition for their preparation and quantity. R. B. Hagood, of Bradford was given a posthumous award as he had been successfully acting as salvage director of McKean county.

The conference was attended by representatives of the non-protective organizations of the Council of Defense and the persons in attendance all gathered inspiration from the speaker and suggestions made. Mrs. Worthington Scranton, Commander of Civilian War Services for Pennsylvania presided and introduced the various speakers: Mrs. Walter Spofford, Third Region Liaison officer; A. L. Cotton, regional director; Miss Cecile Kennedy, American Red Cross; Mrs. Benj. Ludlow; Norman Howard; Mrs. Conway Zirkle; Dr. Warren B. Mack; Mrs. E. A. Van Valkenburg and Mrs. Jean D. Doverspike. Each spoke on some branch of the Civilian War Services and Dr. Warren Mack's talk on Victory Gardens and kindred work was most excellently received and won hearty applause.

Following the meeting in the large court room of the Court House group meetings were held and informal discussions indulged in during which many troublesome questions were ironed out for the county representatives.

The Salvage conference was highly interesting. It developed that most of the counties, notably Elk, have established worthwhile records and are doing a splendid job. The can opener made by the Green Company for use of the Salvage group here was exhibited and from all indications several will be ordered from the local firm. Those who attended the conference returned to their homes last evening inspired by the talks given and with note books well filled with suggestions for the furthering of their efforts in these essential war time tasks.

Water Safety Program Has New Courses

Considerable interest has been aroused locally through announcement that the Red Cross chapter will include in its water safety program a special course in military or functional swimming and sufficient registrations have been received to make possible immediate start on such instructions.

The first class will be held this evening at the YMCA pool, beginning at eight o'clock, with further instruction each Wednesday night at the Glade Run bridge, beginning at 7:30 p. m., and on Friday at the "Y" pool.

The combination of work at the river and pool will provide all the elements necessary for the various phases of the instruction, it is stated by those in charge.

Both men and women have been enrolled for the class and there is still room for accommodation of a few more persons. Late comers interested are asked to be at the "Y" pool at the specified hour tonight.

same time, the O. P. A. office at Pittsburgh "fired" the McKeesport gasoline rationing panel of 23 members, after it was charged that the board had disregarded regulations and operated on its own ideas about who was entitled to extra gasoline.

Many metropolitan sections remained without red meats or dairy products in adequate supplies throughout the second week of a general shortage. Newspaper publishers were faced with new problems of rationing subscriptions and advertising as W. P. B. ordered another slash in newsprint consumption. Many papers now must refuse any new subscriptions, except as replacements for cancellations.

The U. S. S. Spangenberg and the U. S. S. Fowler, two destroyer-escort vessels, slid into the Delaware River from Philadelphia Navy Yard ways—the 15th and

PLAN CAMPAIGN
The Warren Chamber of Commerce is planning a campaign to secure, if possible, better bus facilities for residents of the Warren-Kane division of the West Ridge. At the present time there is but one bus per day between Warren and Kane. It leaves Warren at 1:50 and gets back to Warren about 4 o'clock. Sheffield residents and others in the towns along the route have no way to get to Warren to shop or transact business at the banks. The service now is worse than it has been in 40 years and with the gasoline shortage it is felt that some action should be taken to get better service so that shoppers can be accommodated.

YOUNG ARTIST HONORED

This display is sponsored by the United Office of Education, the Office of War Information and the Library of Congress. Several hundred works in all graphic media from all over the United States were selected for exhibition by juries picked by the Regional Arts Association, National Education Association and the Committee on Art in the American Education Society.

Complete Schedule Made Out For Volunteers At the Red Cross Blood Bank on Monday

Donors who will appear at the Red Cross Blood Bank on Monday have all been notified of the hour of their appointment. Inasmuch as a complete schedule has been made out for the day all volunteers are asked to report at the City Building as close as possible to the time appointed. Red Cross Headquarters has this further request to make. Any who may find that the hour of their appointment is not suited to their day's schedule are asked to give the committee at least six hours notice so a new donor may be scheduled for this cancelled time. This may be done by calling Red Cross Headquarters on Saturday. Since Red Cross offices will be closed Sunday those who must cancel at that late date may still do so by calling 1619. The committee hopes there will be no cancellations but take this step in case some cancellations may later be necessary. It is important that the time of the Mobile Unit be kept filled so that maximum number of donations may be received. On Tuesday, July 20th, the Mobile Unit will function from the State Hospital at North Warren. Here the majority of some 150 volunteer donors, made up of resident doctors, nurses and other employees, will for the most part be making their second donation. The next visit of the Mobile Unit to Warren will be August 16th and 17th.

Some G. I. Advice on Alaska

"Don't try peeking into the crater of a volcano. While you probably won't get your head blown off when peeking, climbing is dangerous."

"Make a lot of noise when going through the woods. Most animals will hear you and run. An old sourdough trick is to put a few stones in an empty bean can tied to your belt."

"Don't expect to be believed. Alaska is a country where sportsmen soon quit lying in disgust. The truth is too incredible."

"Never offer liquor to a native. If you have candy, give him some of that—he is very fond of it."

"Don't take seriously stories of 'lending' their custom of 'lending' their wives. This fashion went out long ago."

"If you are starving on the trail, you can boil your Eskimo underpants in the pot and eat them for dinner."

"To explain a totem pole to a white man, with all its history, requires many days of a story-teller's time."

Citation Is Given Local Salvage Head

Wylie T. Corbett, Chairman of County Group, Honored at Conference

PRaised for His Work

Perhaps the high light of the Regional Conference of Civilian War Services held in Warren yesterday was the awarding of a citation to Wylie T. Corbett, chairman of the Warren County Salvage Committee.

In making the award to Mr. Corbett for his outstanding work it was made known that he is no respecter of quotas and has consistently smashed every quota that has been assigned to him. His latest feat was in the recent scrap drive when with a quota of 1500 tons he rolled up over 2700 tons. His work with tin cans has been outstanding and the Warren shipments have been given recognition for their preparation and quantity. R. B. Hagood, of Bradford was given a posthumous award as he had been successfully acting as salvage director of McKean county.

The conference was attended by representatives of the non-protective organizations of the Council of Defense and the persons in attendance all gathered inspiration from the speaker and suggestions made. Mrs. Worthington Scranton, Commander of Civilian War Services for Pennsylvania presided and introduced the various speakers: Mrs. Walter Spofford, Third Region Liaison officer; A. L. Cotton, regional director; Miss Cecile Kennedy, American Red Cross; Mrs. Benj. Ludlow; Norman Howard; Mrs. Conway Zirkle; Dr. Warren B. Mack; Mrs. E. A. Van Valkenburg and Mrs. Jean D. Doverspike. Each spoke on some branch of the Civilian War Services and Dr. Warren Mack's talk on Victory Gardens and kindred work was most excellently received and won hearty applause.

Following the meeting in the large court room of the Court House group meetings were held and informal discussions indulged in during which many troublesome questions were ironed out for the county representatives.

The Salvage conference was highly interesting. It developed that most of the counties, notably Elk, have established worthwhile records and are doing a splendid job. The can opener made by the Green Company for use of the Salvage group here was exhibited and from all indications several will be ordered from the local firm.

Those who attended the conference returned to their homes last evening inspired by the talks given and with note books well filled with suggestions for the furthering of their efforts in these essential war time tasks.

Water Safety Program Has New Courses

Considerable interest has been aroused locally through announcement that the Red Cross chapter will include in its water safety program a special course in military or functional swimming and sufficient registrations have been received to make possible immediate start of such instructions.

The first class will be held this evening at the YMCA pool, beginning at eight o'clock, with further instruction each Wednesday night at the Glade Run bridge, beginning at 7:30 p. m., and on Fridays at the "Y" pool.

The combination of work at the river and pool will provide all the elements necessary for the various phases of the instruction, it is stated by those in charge.

Both men and women have been enrolled for the class and there is still room for accommodation of a few more persons. Late comers interested are asked to be at the "Y" pool at the specified hour tonight.

16th such vessels to be launched at Philadelphia this year. The former ship is named for Kenneth J. Spangenberg, Allentown war hero who was killed in action. Seventy-five additional Pennsylvania wounded from the North African theatre arrived at the Valley Forge General Hospital, Phoenixville, Capt. Frederick P. Dollenberg, former St. Joseph's College football star, was awarded a $1,000 hero's award as a feature of the Quaker City's Independence Day celebration. Dollenberg is a veteran of 100 bombing missions, and his official score include 14 Zero fighters and five Japanese ships. Army officials approved a return to the audible "all clear" signal for future blackout drills after considerable confusion resulted among air raid wardens and the general populace in recent drills conducted under the revised signal system. In Franklin, the local ration board refused to act as "attorney, judge and jury" in pleasure driving citations, and informed the O. P. A. officials that they would have to handle violators themselves.

same time, the O. P. A. office at Pittsburgh "fired" the McKeesport gasoline rationing panel of 23 members, after it was charged that the board had disregarded regulations and operated on its own ideas about who was entitled to extra gasoline.

Many metropolitan sections remained without red meats or dairy products in adequate supplies throughout the second week of a general shortage. Newspaper publishers were faced with new problems of rationing subscriptions and advertising as W. P. B. ordered another slash in newspaper consumption. Many papers now must refuse any new subscriptions, except as replacements for cancellations.

The U. S. S. Spangenberg and the U. S. S. Fowler, two destroyer-escort vessels, slid into the Delaware River from Philadelphia Navy Yard ways—the 15th and

Allies and Alley Oop Hit Sicily at Same Time

Readers of Alley Oop, the comic strip cave man who travels through the centuries by means of a miraculous time-machine, were better prepared than most people for the Allied invasion of Sicily.

In recent weeks the action of the strip has been laid in Sicily and has concerned itself with the efforts of Alley Oop and his com-

The day that the Allies captured Syracuse, July 12, wire stories commenting on the victory sketched the history of the famous old city and told of the invasion of the Romans in 212 B. C. and the death of Archimedes during the long siege.

Harrisburg, July 16—Reports received by the Pennsylvania Historical Commission last week indicated that steel operations at Pittsburgh—threatened by the recent coal mine stoppage—has returned to 99.5 percent of theoretical capacity. While thousands of anthracite miners in the eastern fields resumed work in nearly all the pits, additional thousands in the Fayette county and adjacent fields remained idle, pending settlement of several points still in dispute. On the whole, however, the picture was considerably brighter throughout the troubled Pennsylvania coal regions.

Patent motorists found some cheer in the O. P. A. announcement that vacation trips would be legal after July 15, providing "A" card holders secured the written permission of their local boards and used only gasoline with which they were still credited. At the

The Warren Chamber of Commerce is planning a campaign to secure, if possible, better bus facilities for residents of the Warren-Kane division of the West Ridge. At the present time there is but one bus per day between Warren and Kane. It leaves Warren at 1:50 and gets back to Warren about 4 o'clock. Sheffield residents and others in the towns along the route have no way to get to Warren to shop or transact business at the banks. The service now is worse than it has been in 40 years and with the gasoline shortage it is felt that some action should be taken to get better service so that shoppers can be accommodated.

Donors who will appear at the Red Cross Blood Bank on Monday have all been notified of the hour of their appointment. Inasmuch as a complete schedule has been made out for the day all volunteers are asked to report at the City Building as close as possible to the time appointed. Red Cross Headquarters has this further request to make. Any who may find that the hour of their appointment is not suited to their day's schedule are asked to give the committee at least six hours notice so a new donor may be scheduled for this cancelled time. This may be done by calling Red Cross Headquarters on Saturday. Since Red Cross offices will be closed Sunday those who must cancel at that late date may still do so by calling 1619. The committee hopes there will be no cancellations but take this step in case some cancellations may later be necessary. It is important that the time of the Mobile Unit be kept filled so that maximum number of donations may be received. On Tuesday, July 20th, the Mobile Unit will function from the State Hospital at North Warren. Here the majority of some 160 volunteer donors, made up of resident doctors, nurses and other employees, will for the most part be making their second donation. The next visit of the Mobile Unit to Warren will be August 16th and 17th.

Some G. I. Advice on Alaska

"Don't try peeking into the crater of a volcano. While you probably won't get your head blown off when peeking, climbing is dangerous."

"Make a lot of noise when going through the woods. Most animals will hear you and run. An old sourdough trick is to put a few stones in an empty bean can tied to your belt."

"Don't expect to be believed. Alaska is a country where sportsmen soon quit lying in disgust. The truth is too incredible."

"Never offer liquor to a native. If you have candy, give him some of that—he is very fond of it."

"Don't take seriously stories of the Eskimo custom of 'lending' their wives. This fashion went out long ago."

"If you are starving on the trail, you can boil your Eskimo underpants in the pot and eat them for dinner."

"To explain a totem pole to a white man, with all its history, requires many days of a story-teller's time."

Here's how to act in Alaska, as explained by the Army's new pocket guide telling soldiers what to do and what not to do in the land of snow and Eskimos. The booklet is one in a series prepared by the Special Service Division of the Army Service Forces to inform our troops how to get along with the natives in the many parts of the world where Americans are based or fighting.

SOME STATISTICS

On the 584th day of the war, the well-entrenched position of Axis militarism in Europe and the Pacific, a result of long-range preparations for war, and the many widely flung fronts where the Allies still must win, pointed to a long, fabulously costly war.

The 584th day of the last war, perhaps you may not recall, was November 11th, 1918.

The New York Times has made a most interesting comparison of the two wars at this date. "More than a lapse of 25 years marks the difference between them," it states. "Members of the A. E. F. concentrated their numbers on narrow fronts in France; today's fronts are spread around the world. In the Pacific the battleground extends roughly 10,000 miles from the Aleutians around to Burma; in the Mediterranean 2,000 miles from Gibraltar to Suez; in the West 2,000 miles from North Cape to the French-Spanish frontier."

Here are some statistics:

In 1918 our population was 103 million; today it is 133 million. We had 4,355,000 men mobilized at this period in World War I, compared to 9,300,000 today. Nine million were engaged in war industries then; 10,000,000 now. Agricultural employment, including wives of farmers and children under 14, is about the same at 11,000,000, despite the tremendously increased need for food production.

Most revealing figures, however, are those for casualties and cost. On the 584th day of World War I we had suffered 350,000 casualties and spent 22 billion dollars. Today we have about 90,000 casualties and expenditures totaling 92 billion dollars, with that figure climbing rapidly.

These statistics serve the useful purpose of emphasizing the essential difference between the two wars. We are too apt to think today in terms of our experiences in 1917-1918. But those experiences, while helpful, are highly inadequate in dealing with the vast ramifications of all-out global warfare.

FINE TIMING

In the opinion of DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press war analyst, "the Roosevelt-Churchill ultimatum to the people of Italy is an astutely logical development, delivered with what appears to be fine timing."

The Italian public as a whole never has had its heart in this war. The country was swept into the conflict by Mussolini's sudden treachery against France and, once caught in the mill-race, couldn't get out.

Back as far as the fateful Munich conference, when the power-mad but pusillanimous duce was beginning to sniff the Hitlerian heels, in Italy there was a widespread feeling of abhorrence for the Nazi leader and his works. The average Italian had no use for Hitler, and decidedly had no intention of going to war to support him.

Their trouble was that they had no champion to lead them in revolt against Mussolini. The king at that time had lost his hold on the respect of many of his people, and was regarded more or less as a figurehead and helpless in the hands of the Duce.

Since then, however, there has been a change in Italy. The royal house seems to have made a recovery in the esteem of the public, and the old king has been asserting himself.

Coincidentally, we have seen the curious spectacle of Italian staff officers coolly surrendering en bloc in Sicily, and their soldiers happily following suit.

Back at the time of Tunisia, Italian prisoners were bitter in their denunciation of the Boche. And it may be said that the Germans thoroughly despise their Allies.

So it is into such an atmosphere that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have pitched their ultimatum.

JOIN WORSHIP SUNDAY EVENING

Again we call attention to the community Sunday evening services that are being held weekly on the lawn of Beaty school when weather permits, under the auspices of the Ministerial Association. In the opinion of many these services provide a practical solution to the problem that has been bothering churches for the past few years, that of attracting worshippers to service on Sunday night.

This week the service will be addressed by Rev. M. I. Harding of Epworth Methodist church, and an interesting musical program has been arranged. The school is within easy walking distance from any section of the borough. Ministers in charge have given much of their time and thought to the planning of the programs and the public is assured an hour of real spiritual uplift by attending.

One Plant Still Unbombed

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINETT

WASHINGTON—It won't mean anything so far as taxes are concerned for years to come, but it's considered certain up on the Hill that wartime appropriations for the last two fiscal years hit the peak.

Starting with 1944, war appropriations probably will taper off sharply, even if the war still is raging, and may even do a crash dive if victory is in sight.

As a matter of fact, members of Congress, now returning home for the first long period in more than three years, probably will make a point of this. There has to be some answer to charges such as that hurled by Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones in his fight with Vice President Wallace: "Squandering the people's money, even in wartime, is no proof of patriotism."

COUPLE this with the declaration of Sen. Robert M. La Follette: "I do not hesitate to make the statement that if Congress refuses to appropriate another dollar, this war could be carried on for two years without any (further) action by Congress."

And that from Sen. Harry S. Truman: "The Army and Navy . . . know how to waste money better than any other organization I ever have had anything to do with."

Wrap these statements up with that of Sen. Harry F. Byrd: "At the beginning of the 1943-44 fiscal year, there was more than $200,000,000,000 in the Treasury, appropriated for war purposes, but unexpended, and the war agencies of the government have authority to make contract authorizations for nearly $25,000,000,000 more."

He pointed out that this staggering sum (only a book obligation, not cash on hand, understand) is exclusive of the vast amounts being expended by government corporations.

Emphasizing the fact that up to now Congress has almost without a whimper appropriated everything that the Army, Navy and other war agencies have asked for, Senator Byrd said: "It seems to me the time has come when closer scrutiny should be given the colossal appropriations now being made."

ADD all this up and you begin to get the picture of things to come. Not yet has the United States been able to spend a hundred billion dollars a year for war purposes, yet appropriations and contract authorizations now enacted give us $228,000,000,000 to play with next year.

In the closing days of the Congressional session, there was plenty of evidence of rebellion against blanket appropriations. Army and Navy requests for funds did go through unscathed—but with some reluctance. Some other war agencies didn't do so well.

It's pretty freely predicted that once the boys get back to explaining billions to the constituents, it will be a different story and that from autumn on the Army, Navy and other agencies will have to spend what they have already, and spend it well, before they get more.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Great events mature slowly in the movies. It's not just a matter of an idea, an executive yelling to subordinates, red tape flying in tangled coils and masses, and presto! a picture. No.

There's King Vidor and his "America." The director has been sitting on that idea, nursing it along and building it, for 20-odd years. And then there's "Cover Girls," a different sort of epic (you'll find it card-indexed under "G" and "M" or "Girly-girls and Musical") which has been absorbing the brains for a year and a half now.

She likes, in her stories, to "get a boy and girl and see what comes of it." Miss Van Upp watched Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray several times, MacMurray and Madeleine Carroll ditto, and what always comes of it is a movie marriage.

I WOULDN'T be surprised if, in "Cover Girls," heroine Rita Hayworth met the same end. Miss Van Upp never had written a musical before (mostly she says because most musicals have no stories).

Admitting that a movie based on a flock of girls posing for magazine covers might be a static affair, Miss Van Upp said that they had overcome this by mixing the cover girls with the theater backstage world—"there's a logical link, because so many cover girls get quick opportunity in the theater."

I met a few of the cover girls—mostly wholesome, sweet kids like your sister—and, wonder of wonders, I got on the "Cover Girls" set, which is guarded by a conscientious policeman who follows orders strictly and double-checks every pass as though it were a diplomat's pass.

The chosen magazines buzzed about the task of selecting the favorite cover girl of each, some on a readers' choice basis, some by calling in artists as judges. In due time the girls arrived, were announced in a Beverly Hills mansion with guards at the gates—"to keep the wolves from the door," as the publicity said gaily—and swam, rested, and waited.

Arthur Schwartz, Broadway producer and musical composer, undertook to produce his first movie. There had been two or three false starts on a script when Virginia Van Upp took over. Miss Van Upp, one-time child movie actress, now writes movie romances.

Two more big rattlesnakes have been killed in the Cole Hill section of the county. Mary and Pauline Bednar, aged 10 and 12 years, daughters of Mrs. Alibozak were after the cows last evening when they saw the snakes near a pile of stones. They attempted to kill one of the reptiles but Mr. Alibozak saw their danger and getting his shot gun killed both of the snakes.

Several hundred were out last evening to enjoy the band concert of the VFW band on the Central school lawn. An ice cream social held in connection with the concert was well patronized and a goodly sum was realized.

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1923

Residents of Sixth and Seventh streets have been busy the past few days trying to locate a cow whose bell has been heard in that vicinity. It has finally been discovered that Mrs. O. P. Bush has a cherry tree and that the robins have found it out. She hung a bell in the street with a cord attached and when the robins start to pick cherries she yanks the cord and the bell does the rest.

The Warren Wholesale Company has just placed in operation a new Apperson truck that is of size sufficient to handle any deliveries they might be called upon to make.

Three members of the school board will retire this year and their successors must be named. They are Dr. William Robertson, John G. Smith and E. H. Beshlin.

Phil J. Swain and W. T. Hart, of Sheffield have been named by the Federal court at Pittsburgh to view and estimate a price on a large tract of land which will be added to the Allegheny National Forest.

Henry Nicholson and Earl Erickson are planning an extended bicycle tour. They will ride to Buffalo and Niagara Falls and spend several days in the trip.

In 1933

Three employees of the Downie Brothers Circus on their way to Warren were injured when the truck they were riding struck another car and was wrecked near Jamestown. The men were not seriously injured and their truck was righted and continued to Warren.

Thursday evening the Fox Club will present Ben Pollock and his band at a dancing party here. They will stage the dance at the Pier Ball room at Colerain and a huge crowd of young folk from this section will be present.

According to a correspondent good progress is being made on the Pleasantville road. Concrete is being poured and rapid time is being made in getting the road along toward completion.

MAILED MEALS

Every American prisoner of war in Europe receives an 11-pound package of food weekly from the United States government, through the offices of the American Red Cross. American civilian internees receive one every two weeks. Codfish spawn as many as 9,000,000 eggs in a single season.

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture
Renew Strawberry Patch—if the strawberry patch produced its first crop this year and is on fertile soil, has vigorous, healthy plants, and is comparatively free from weeds, it may be renewed for a second crop next year. Ask the Agricultural Publications Office, State College, Pa., for Circular 181.

"Strawberry Growing in Pennsylvania." It tells all about strawberry culture.
Season the Pulpwood—Shipment of pulpwood by rail is being encouraged, report extension foresters of the Pennsylvania State College. To keep down freight costs, it is essential that the pulpwood be well-seasoned. Wood cut and peeled during the present season should be ready for loading out by fall.
Bees are valuable—The lowly bee is an essential war worker. In addition to the value of honey and beeswax produced, the honeybee also renders an important service in pollinating many fruit, food, and feed crops, says apiculturists of the Pennsylvania State College.
Aid hen comfort—Plenty of fresh air is needed by hens in hot weather. Ventilation makes the quarters more comfortable and thus aids the hens in maintaining profitable production, rearing Penn State poultry specialists. Insulation of buildings also helps.
Study at home—The Pennsylvania State College has 48 courses in agriculture and home economics available for study correspondence. Information on these courses may be obtained from your county agricultural agent or by writing to the College.
Give Vaccine early—If there is danger of horse sleeping sickness, it is best to give vaccine before the disease appears, says Penn State livestock specialists.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Free the Seas
Before we win the final battle with Hitler's Nazis all navy men agreed we must win the battle of the Atlantic; that is to free the lanes of the German U-boats. A year ago we were building 34 cruisers and nearly 200 destroyers or just about enough for a toy ocean navy.
Now we have come to realize that this war is to the finish, "win it all," and our Government is building a five ocean navy. That is why we are being asked to increase our subscriptions to War Bonds. That is why we must buy them.

COFFEE RATIONING
Announcement is made that the rationing of coffee will end about August 11th. As most of the coffee comes from Brazil it is taken to mean that the shipments are mounting as the submarine battle is being won by the United Nations. And it is also expected that sugar rationing may soon be lifted for the same reason.

NO MORE GAS
No more gas for victory gardeners is now announced by the OPA and those who have secured extra coupons will be allowed to use them but no more will be issued. And along the same line those contemplating a vacation who have used some of their No. 6 coupons had better not apply as the No. 6 is not good until July 22 and if they are missing from the "A" book trouble is ahead.

Beer originally was dispensed in copper tankards from wooden casks.

Warren Auxiliary Is Doubly Honored At Council Gathering

Gertrude Fitch, of Warren, was chosen junior vice president of the Northwest Counties Council VFW Auxiliaries, at the regular meeting held Thursday afternoon in Erie. Also from Warren was Bertha W. Lyons, reelected treasurer of the council.

Louise Thornton, of Erie, was elected president of the group for the coming year; Catherine Thornton, of Meadville, senior vice president; Angelica Johnson, Erie secretary.

A change voted in meeting dates will allow future sessions of the women's units to be held at the same time as the men's council, the next gathering to be on Sunday, August 1, in Meadville.

Yesterday's meeting was held in the VFW Home, with luncheon at noon and the business session following. In attendance from Warren unit were Catherine J. Allen, local president; Olga Petersen, Marie Belton, Thelma Ploss, Gertrude Fitch and Brtha Lyons.

Social Events

HONORS NIECE

Mrs. Elizabeth Gumbetter entertained about twenty guests last evening at her home, 3 Hemlock street, honoring her niece, Miss Helen M. Tuskas, who will become the bride of Robert L. Hansen on August 2.

The party was in the form of a miscellaneous shower and the time was spent in playing games, with prizes awarded the winners. Refreshments were served at a table prettily decorated in pink and white.

MARTHA SOCIETY

Members of the Martha Society of Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed church are requested to note a change in meeting place for Monday evening, July 19, Mrs. W. Sechrist to entertain instead of Mrs. Painter, as originally scheduled for this date. There is important business to be discussed and all members are requested to be present.

ANNUAL PICNIC

Members of the Archibald Bible class will have their annual picnic Monday night at the Fox ranch. It will be a wicker roast, and there will be a hay ride from the bus line to the ranch.

DOUBLE EVENT

A pleasant party was held Tuesday evening at the home of Ben Swanson at Grand Valley in honor of his 75th birthday. It was also the occasion of a farewell for his son, Harold, who left Wednesday for Army service with the Warren contingent. There were 35 present and, following an enjoyable evening, refreshments were served. The honor guests were presented with appropriate gifts and a sum of money.

Meeting Held By the Library Association

President, H. L. Banghart; vice president, W. F. Linger; treasurer, Elmer T. Lundahl.

Mrs. Wade was elected a director of the association at the annual meeting held earlier this week. On the nominating committee were Miss Frances Schimelfeng, R. Pierson Eaton and Rev. E. P. Wroth.

Leon I. Excerpts from this report will be presented to readers in a later issue.

Big Inch Pipe Line Is All But Finished

leg, from Longview to Norris City, began operation in April with a daily capacity of 300,000 barrels of crude and No. 2 heating oil.

However, Hull said, it would take 3,000,000 barrels to fill up the eastern leg, and this much can't be diverted immediately. Tank-car shipments from Norris City will continue to keep the eastern refineries supplied while the pipe is being filled at a rate of 100,000 barrels a day.

Doodads For Defense Are Asked For

All set to start its active collection of discarded costume jewelry for use in exchange or barter by service men in the island areas, the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club will place collection boxes in various business establishments over the weekend.

Acting at the request of the salvage committee of the Warren County Defense Council, the club has undertaken this new type of salvage project with the feeling that every woman and girl in Warren county will be an active participant and that the local results will be on a par with other successful salvage programs.

Arrangements for the collection, which is to be carried on under the name of "Doodads for Defense," are in charge of the publicity committee of the club, the same unit which last year collected hundreds of pounds of "Keys for Victory." Heading the committee is Katherine Bauer, aided by Evelyn Wolstencroft, Effie Patterson, Ruth Woodin, Margaret Miller, and other club officials and members.

Collection boxes will be decorated in red, white and blue crepe paper and each will bear a "Doodads for Defense" placard or banner. Announcement of their exact location will be made on Monday in these columns.

It is assumed that the Youngs-ville Business and Professional Women have again signified their intention of assisting in the work and it is hoped that groups in other county communities will volunteer their services.

Long-Time Employees of Hammond Iron Works To Be Honored

E. D. Huber, president of Local 650 International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders and Helpers of America, will accept the "E" pins for the employees of the company.

During the last World War the company fabricated ship plates to be used in the Hog Island shipyards. Since "Pearl Harbor" the men and women of Hammond Iron Works have fabricated and constructed essential parts of many ordnance and munitions works and of plants for the manufacture of high octane aviation gasoline, synthetic rubber and its constituents, and many other products necessary to the successful completion of our war effort. They have also fabricated and constructed, under severe extremes of weather and climate, storage facilities for the Army and Navy at bases located in such widely scattered places as Hawaii, Africa, Greenland, Canal Zone, Labrador, Cuba, Newfoundland and Puerto Rico.

During recent years R. Y. Kopf and William H. Schellhammer have assumed positions of importance in the company. Henry Walker, with the company since 1917, is chief engineer. J. G. Pattillo, who joined the company in 1935, is vice president in charge of its New York office. Fred L. Plummer joined the company in 1940 as chief research engineer.

Many employees have left their work to take part in the activities of our armed forces. One of these men, Howard Ristau, on leave following several months of active duty in North Africa, will be seated on the speaker's platform during the ceremony.

Allies Outwit Japanese At Jungle Game

ing success against the British on their advance down the Malay peninsula upon Singapore—infiltration to the rear—proved their undoing at Mubo.

Today's communique from General MacArthur, who now is in the field in New Guinea, in personal charge of the campaign, disclosed that the Americans who moved inland from Nassau bay joined the Australians July 10 at Buigap Creek, cutting communications and isolating the Japanese on Observation Hill and Green Hills.

Observation Hill was overrun after 108 tons of bombs fell among its demoralized defenders in less than 45 minutes from Allied planes. From front and rear, other enemy defenses at Mubo were stormed.

The focal point of the Solomons drive, the Munda air base on New Georgia, was further menaced and isolated. Throwing off an enemy counterattack, United States troops moved through the jungles still nearer Munda's foxhole and dog bunker defenses. Our artillery blew up four enemy guns near the air-drome yesterday.

In inter-island waters above Munda, one Japanese merchant ship was sunk, a second left aflame, two barges sunk and a third set on fire by roving Mitchell medium bombers.

The communique today also disclosed that in the second navy battle in the Kula gulf July 13, the United States destroyer Gwin was damaged so severely she sank later while being towed to port. She was the third American warship lost in Kula gulf actions. The Destroyer Strong was torpedoed and sunk July 5 while shelling Bairoko and the light cruiser Helena was sunk July 6 in the first Kula gulf battle. Japanese losses in the two battles have been reported as at least 13 and probably 17 cruisers and destroyers.

they said he was TOO OLD TO SERVE!

He was in the Navy from 1917 to 1920. After Pearl Harbor, he tried to join again.

"Too old to serve!"

That's what they thought!

He has a big job in a war plant... 50 or 60 hours a week. Putting 15% of his pay in bonds.

He's an air raid warden, a regular blood donor, his car is parked in the garage—for the duration—and he has a flourishing Victory Garden.

There's another thing he's doing that helps a lot—using his telephone wisely, not wastefully. He keeps his calls brief. Never calls Long Distance unless it's urgent. Uses his directory, instead of calling "Information."

That kind of cooperation helps us speed the calls that "hurry up" the war.

New Record By Inductees In Shooting

A new record was established here last evening in the number of young men qualifying as basic riflemen, first class, shooting on the indoor ranges of the Army and Cornplanter Gun Club in completion of the course of instruction by the Warren small arms firing school.

Eight future inductees qualified in this class, with John S. Rapp leading the field with a score of 267. Other scores were: Will Meno, 265; Harold Traub, 263; W. Shanshalia and K. Goosman, 259; R. C. Miller, 252; W. Nuhfer, 246; Lawrence Valentine, 245.

Leading by three points for high in those qualifying as basic riflemen, second class, was R. C. Rapp, brother of John, who shot 231. Also in this group was J. Kammer with 228. Rating third class was Jim Scalise, with 215.

Two members of the class, Milo Park and W. Stanton, have already left for service in the U. S. Navy and W. D. Smith, unable to be present, will be given a later opportunity to qualify.

It is stated today that any who wish to participate immediately in the Army "E" qualification shoot may do so on Sunday at the Cornplanter club's outdoor range on Page Hollow Road.

A regular all-day shoot of this type has been scheduled at the range the following Sunday, August 25, when members may shoot their 22 calibre rounds at 50 and 100 yards; also 30 calibre at 200 yards.

Any persons interested may still enroll for the next regular class, the tenth to be instructed by the local school officials, which will get under way next Tuesday evening.

To Plant Is Not Enough

Planting of the seeds is not the all-important part of a Victory Garden, but its cultivation and care subsequent to planting is absolutely necessary to make it a success from a production standpoint.

As previously announced, Dr. G. J. Stout of State College will be here Monday and Tuesday of next week to discuss with Victory gardeners some of their currently acute problems. O. C. Tritt, head of the Warren County Agricultural Extension Association, has arranged a series of meetings for Dr. Stout, and it is hoped that every person interested in any phase of gardening will be present either at 5:00 p. m. Monday at the Watson Memorial Home Victory Garden plot, or at 7:30 p. m. on the Madison and Hammond avenues plot.

Then on Tuesday evening at 7:30 a similar meeting will be held on the Newbold Victory Garden plot west of the plant of the Thomas Coupling Company on the South Side. No Victory gardener can afford to miss these meetings, says E. W. Johnson, chairman.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 16—(P)—A recent visitor to these precincts was Mrs. Violet Jean McClatchey, an attractive and very earnest young woman from Bartlesville, Okla., by way of South Orange, N. J., who stopped to put in a few good words for the common copper cent. The reason that Mrs. McClatchey thinks so highly of cents is that when 400,000 women bowlers start contributing them, they mount up to a good many pretty pennies, and as chairman of the war service committee of the Women's International Bowling Congress, Mrs. M. wants to keep the pennies, nickles and dimes pouring in. She also is interested in giving her favorite sport full credit for its war contributions.

Last year the W. I. B. C. bought a bomber plane for the air forces, and "adopted" its crew, thereby giving Capt. William Chum and Sgt. William Morehead something of an advantage over sailors who have only on girl in every port. "Miss W. I. B. C." already has been in action and recently returned to Dayton, O., for a checkup. . . the girls found they had some money left over, so they bought an ambulance which will be presented to the army soon, probably at Columbus, Ohio. . . They're not setting any quotas for their contributions during the coming pin season, but they expect to pay for "one or more" ambulance planes at $50,000 each.

Impressive as these figures look, what really stirs Mrs. McClatchey's enthusiasm is the fact that a large part of the money comes from pennies dropped in the "kitty" for Misses, splits, etc., during bowling matches. . . One of her favorite novelties is putting a yellow pin in each pit—"they call it the Jap pin. Well named, don't you think?" . . . And collecting a cent for every time it is left standing on the first ball. . . "In a week's time you collect a good many dollars," she points out, especially since about 6,000 women's leagues operate each season.

In addition to contributing their small change, the women bowlers are doing such things as knitting for the Red Cross—you'll see them working with their needles while waiting their turns at the pins, writing letters to service men and women, including nearly 500 members of the W. I. B. C. in the services. . . Some groups even have stopped bowling but continue their weekly meetings to knit or make bandages. Those in uniform apparently haven't stopped bowling, for several applications for league sanctions have been granted. . . "We think that writing letters is very important, too," Mrs. McClatchey adds. "I write to about 50 boys in service and send them little gifts and make cookies for them. In fact, I think it is all very good work. If I didn't think so I'd get a job on the production line where I could do more good."

Changing the subject as far as possible, the boys who came down from Buffalo for the all-star baseball game say that Sen. Jim Mead is really steamed up over his idea of having the Army and Navy play football in some Metropolitan center where a lot of people would pay to see it. . . Wonder if he might be thinking of that big Buffalo stadium that never has been clear full? . . . Branch Rickey says he crosses his bridges when he comes to them. . . If he runs into any more incidents like the Newsom-Durocher affair, Branch likely will be casting longing looks at the Brooklyn bridge—and wondering whether it would be quicker to talk or take the Fulton St. car.

MURDER IN TIN

By CARL A. PETERSON

Chapter 8
I SHOOK the feeling of loss from me. "Johnson," I said, "I'll make a deal with you. But you've got to talk straight. You want me to talk straight. That goes for both of us."

"What do you mean, straight?" "That's not Taggard," I said. "He was at me in a minute, his lips opening. 'It's your own life to buy off. I want the dope on the smelter.' He lifted his hand up with only the forefinger extended. 'I want the dope on the Bolivian mines.'"

"I can only get them if you release me."

"Okay, we'll release you. But we want some up-and-up insurance. The code you use. The names of everybody in your set-up. All the G.I.s on this Taggard tin."

"It's all up with me, I thought in despair. But their Fuehrer's doctrine of the big lie could be worked two ways, I reflected. "We expect to get hold of the Taggard tin in the near future. That's why I left Bolivia." Mirtilo of course, was the first to nibble. I saw his lips twitch as I continued. "You want the location of that mine, don't you? Or do you want the Taggard ore? Do you want the Taggard tin smelter in Texas? Do you want our tin supply to be doubled? Tripled?"

"Damn you!" Johnson said.

I WASN'T bothering with him. Mirtilo's twitching lips had told me what I wanted. They didn't have the mine location. Maybe, they had Taggard. But they didn't have the mine.

"Senor! Mirtilo said to me. 'Help us and we will save you. Ah, senor, it is bad to die. Bad.' He was mouthing empty phrases but they revealed the fix Johnson and Mirtilo were in. I understood now why Johnson was so eager to know about the smelter. He had a boss to report to and when he reported no news on the Taggard ore, he wanted to be able to report on the tin that was on hand and being worked. That was his weak spot. He couldn't keep on falling month after month. Not with the Gestapo.

Johnson's lips came together in a mean white line. "You come across with the code or we'll burn it out of you." He took a clasp knife out of his pocket and thumbed open the blade. "See that? I ask you something, I want you to answer!"

He jerked the knife towards the door on the left. "How'd you like to come in there for a little tattooing?" He put the knife on the table and walked towards the gagged man. He pulled him around and with his big hand yanked the shirt out. The gagged man wore no undershirt. His stomach was crisscrossed with a series of knife cuts that had been cut into his skin. The crosses hadn't been cut deep. They had scabbed over. There were at least fifteen of them, dark red on the white skin.

He forced myself to speak. "That doesn't get you the tin, I can get the tin. But I need time."

"How much time?" "A few more days."

Mirtilo said, "Senor, it would be best so. It would be best. My money."

I had taken him in, but not Johnson.

"WE'LL get the dope sooner or later," he said. "We got an organization. This war, what's it mean to us. We're operating in the States, in Mexico."

"Except for those shot—" "Loomis!" Johnson yelled.

A man I had never seen before entered from the door on the right. He had a pie-shaped face and his hair was yellow and his nose was hooked at the point.

Loomis put one finger across his lips. "They're killing him!"

He pulled a length of blackjack from his pocket and lifted it across his lips as if it were a finger, too. He was grinning, enjoying the joke.

I couldn't stand it any more. The gagged man might have been one of our own men. He had, wherever he was, worked counter to them. I couldn't stand it any more. I got to my feet and made for my guard like a crazy man. I saw his blackjack arm go all the way back and then all the way forward. And for the second time that day, I plunged down into blackness.

Later, how much later I couldn't guess. I smelled coffee and opened my eyes. I knew in that waking moment that my death was waiting for me like a patient visitor who wouldn't be put off forever.

I wasn't alone. Across the room a Mexican of about thirty-five was bending over a charcoal fire burning in the open clay pit.

THE kerosene lamp shone into his small face. He was even smaller than Mirtilo and he had hands like a girl's and a face like a sparrow's. I was thinking that the Gestapo had a varied lot of operatives in Mexico City.

"Where are they?" I asked.

"No hablo ingles," he said regretfully, smiling. "Cafe, senor. My guard said, 'Cafe? Okay—' He was delighted at his mastery over the American. He repeated it, "Okay."

"Okay," I said dejectedly. This was a long night all right. I thought, gazing at the kerosene lamp and thinking of the saying about turning night into day. I reflected that there was some sound advice in that saying.

If I could upset that lamp and somehow put my guard out of the picture, I might have a chance for my life. Or it might add up to my death. But it added up to death as things stood right now. Johnson, Mirtilo and their musclemen were not releasing me short of death. It was extermination for one side or the other.

"Senor Mirtilo?" I said.

He smiled and poured the coffee into two cracked cups. He picked up a pan from the fire and dumped the warmed-up beans on a plate.

I walked over to the table. I thought that now was a good time to knock the lamp over. I could swing around the table and crack him one with my handcuffs.

SPECIALISTS ALL OVER THE WORLD EXPAND GM WAR EFFORT BEYOND PRODUCTION LINE

NEW YORK.—Far-flung wartime activities of General Motors over and above its large-scale war production, through which it has made available the services of technicians, developed training facilities and utilized overseas plants and personnel in cooperation with United States and Allied military leaders all over the world, were revealed in detail today for the first time in a special message by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman, to the more than 400,000 General Motors stockholders.

Highlights of the war products field service program, launched shortly after Pearl Harbor at the request of military authorities and since greatly expanded, which has the one prime objective of assuring that GM-built war equipment is kept at top operating efficiency and available for action at the front the maximum of time, are:

"Technical centers" have been established in England, Egypt, India, Australia, New Zealand and elsewhere;

More than 200 technicians are assigned to combat areas as field observers, service or parts specialists on GM war products.

A constant flow of performance reports on GM equipment at the front is forwarded through military channels to the research laboratories and the engineering staffs, forming the basis for joint action with military technicians in steadily increasing the technical excellence of the products.

Management and other services were provided in procuring and operating three emergency assembly plants for military vehicles in the Middle East;

Assistance was provided to the Army in setting up truck reconditioning plants in specific combat areas, and to the Navy in establishing overseas service points for GM Diesel engines;

Manufacturing and assembly plants in England, India, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa have been converted to war production or assembly;

Engineering facilities and personnel in the United States have been made available for experimental and development work;

The General Motors Proving Ground has become an Army testing field for war products;

Peacetime experience in warehousing and distribution of service parts has been made available to the Army and Navy;

There are 22 GM training schools in the U. S. which graduated 11,000 Army and Navy technicians in 1942 and are equipped to train 40,000 in 1943.

In concluding his report on these widespread activities, both on the home front and in far-flung combat areas, all at the request of and in cooperation with military authorities, Mr. Sloan said:

"Thus, in all phases of the war production effort, in volume output itself, in technological development, and in furthering the essential services from the time the product leaves the factory until it has served its full purpose on the battle fronts, General Motors has made available its entire resources of skill and experience to one common purpose—Victory."

Top—Military trucks for the Russian Army were assembled in the open desert in Iran while a special plant was being constructed for the Army Ordnance Department. These facilities, operated by General Motors, assemble several makes of military vehicles, including Chevrolet and GMC trucks. Center—As in other combat areas, service facilities must often be improvised. Here, in China, the guns of an A-18on-powered Curtiss P-40 are being repaired by an American "amateur section." Below—Typical of maintenance in the field is this Army outdoor repair shop set up in a United States Army military truck convoy of supplies to Allied troops. The route of this convoy is through the most difficult terrain in Australia.

Dodger Housecleaning Still On As Medwick Is Left Behind At Start of Long Road Trip

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The bums rush is on in Brooklyn for fair and this time the heave-ho is about to go to Joseph Michael (Muscles) Medwick, the 26-year-old outfielder whose usefulness to the Dodgers, like that of Louis Norman (Bobo) Newnam, apparently has come to an end.

When the ball club left New York last night for a three-week trip away from the stormy scene of insurrection at Ebbets Field, Medwick was left at home.

Although the maneuver was shrouded in mystery by club officials, no mirrors were needed to see behind the veil of Branch Rickey's housecleaning.

Having moved to wipe out the rebellion against his Manager Leo Durocher by trading Newnam to the St. Louis Browns for two anti-quated pitchers, Fritz Ostermieler and Archie McKain, Rickey has 26 players on his roster; one over the limit, and was compelled to get rid of another man.

His choice of Medwick was connected only indirectly with the rebellion. Rickey had been trying to dispose of him ever since becoming president of the Dodgers last November. He didn't like the term "permanent" of the famous slugger, who never had batted less than .300 in 12 seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn and who had been the National League's batting champion and most valuable player in 1937.

Although he has come down a long way from his original asking price, Rickey's chances of making a deal for Medwick have faded with the player's performance this year. At present his batting average is .272 and he hasn't made a hit longer than a double.

In any case the Bums hit the headlines again at the same time they hit the road and their antics continued to provide a smoke-screen over the activities of other

Tie Game Is Played At the State Hospital

Corry and Forge resumed hostilities at the State Hospital field last evening after nine innings of good baseball both teams had to be contented with a 3-3 tie.

Hines and Cassett, starting pitchers, were in excellent form. Hines finally giving way to Kulick after his arm became sore, doing a fine piece of twirling by allowing Corry one run and that came on an error by Catcher S. Massa, who threw too low to third and allowed Corry's third and tying run to slide over the plate.

A large crowd was on hand to witness the interesting game. The box score:

Forgers Hoping For Paying Crowd When They Meet St. Marys Colts on Local Diamond

Plenty of excitement and entertainment is assured local baseball fans when the National Forge & Ordnance basebatters will appear in a doubleheader on the local diamond Sunday afternoon.

Baseball fans of Warren and vicinity will be on the spot Sunday when the renowned St. Marys Colts meet the National Forge Baseball team at Russell field. If the attendance at the contests is satisfactory future games may be booked. If, on the contrary, the paying customers are not sufficient to meet expenses, the Forgers are ready to give up at least so far as playing games locally are concerned.

For this reason the Sunday contests have been booked as a "Boosters Games" and to make it more interesting it is planned to furnish some contests between games to keep the fans pepped up. These may include fungo hitting, circling the bases, straightaway race, etc. It has not been announced whether or not "Pike" Peterson will be out to do his juggling act, but some of the old-timers have suggested that he be secured for the benefit of those who may not have had an opportunity to see him execute his ability along this line.

"If the fans should show that they want baseball and are willing to help support their team," said one of the Forge officials, "we will do our utmost to bring teams from away, such as from Warren, O., and anywhere else in Ohio or nearby states. We may even get Meadville back for a game or two.

"People do not seem to realize that we must pay heavy guarantees, in addition to the costs of balls, ball boys, umpires, ticket sellers, ground keepers, mowing of field and paying rental to the school board for use of the grounds. In addition there is the extra expense of aiding injured players.

"These things have been talked over by officials of the plant and the team members. We feel that through the Forge team Warren has been furnished a high-class brand of baseball and recreation. We're willing to continue if we get the support."

There you have it fellows! Given a break in the weather, the Forgers are justified in expecting a paying crowd on Sunday. Help keep baseball going by turning out.

Philadelphia, July 16.—(P)—Approval of National Football League Commissioner Elmer Layden was awaited today for shifting the game between the Philadelphia-Pittsburgh combine and the Green Bay Packers, scheduled for Sept. 19 at Milwaukee, to Pittsburgh on Sept. 12.

First salt works in America was set up at Accomac, Va., in 1630.

Best Way to Reach Favorite Hunting Ground Is to Pedal

Harrisburg, July 16.—(P)—An increasing number of Pennsylvania sportsmen are discovering that the way to reach a favorite hunting or fishing spot these days is to jump on a bicycle and start pedaling.

The state commission today cited a growing trend toward cycling and Seth Gordon, executive director, asserted, "If I wanted to do some hunting and fishing, I would certainly use a bicycle to get there."

He advised hunters pedaling to the woods to be sure "to take their guns apart and not have any ammunition in them" before they start, adding they should observe the same precautions the law requires for hunters riding in automobiles.

Gordon said no action has been taken by Washington on the release of new ammunition supplies for the fall hunting season but added a meeting of war production board officials and federal advisory groups is scheduled for next week to discuss the question.

It was announced this morning at the plant that this will be Frank Kulick's last game with the team, and he is scheduled to pitch the second game. Gigliardi is slated to take the mound in the opener.

cation and the Director, Rural War Production Training, U. S. Office of Education." Some of the equipment may be rented and funds will be available for purchase or rental.

The program is being administered by county advisers of agriculture and home economics and is to be carried out in the local communities with the cooperation of departments of agriculture and home economics in the rural high schools. Funds are available for the employment of the teacher of home economics to visit homes and to make the school a community center.

Honorable Capitulation Is Only Hope

Allied bombers in addition to beaming the message to the people of Italy by radio.

The White House called newspaper offices less than a half hour before making public the joint statement. Many reporters were routed out of bed to rush to the executives offices and handle it.

Asserting Mussolini had plunged the Italian people into a war which he thought "Hitler had already won," the president and prime minister said that at this moment the combined armed forces of the United States and Great Britain "are carrying the war deep into the territory of your country."

London, July 16—(P)—The Axis radio today broadcast the virtual ultimatum of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt that the sole hope of the Italian people "lies in honorable capitulation to the overwhelming power of the military forces of the United Nations." The broadcast was heard by Reuters.

From the lowest depth of the oceans to the highest peak on land, it is 12 miles vertical distance.

Temperatures within the sun may go as high as 70,000,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The ever-increasing air offensive against Europe continued by day, with waves of Allied planes crossing the channel this morning.

In the battle for Sicily, the Allies were making generous use of air troops to hit the enemy from behind and disrupt defenses.

The observers who predicted the possible Axis abandonment of Sicily said the Allies had "an appreciable number of tanks" and could be expected to deal with any more counterattacks of Axis troops.

Axis forces were reported concentrating in the area of Lentini, northwest of British-held Augusta, to block the Eighth Army drive upon Catania.

docks, railways and other communications in Naples yesterday in a heavy attack upon that Italian port, and more than 70 Liberators of the U. S. Ninth Air Force from the Middle East descended upon Foggia airdrome on the Adriatic window of Italy making "a flaming shambles of the main and two satellite fields" and destroying grounded air craft.

These planes scattered incendiary bombs over the Italian countryside, starting forest fires.

Palermo in Sicily and Messina, already in flames from a previous raid, were again attacked with heavy new damage inflicted, and other Allied planes swept over Axis troop and vehicle concentrations in Sicily. Sixteen enemy planes were destroyed, and seven Allied ships were lost.

From the other direction, RAF bombers leaped the Alps to hit transformer and switching stations at an unidentified town in northern Italy and other British bombers raided the Peugeot Motor Works at Montebellard in France last night to disrupt production of trucks. Nazi airdromes likewise were attacked.

New "Cost of Tuition" Act In School Code Is Defined

In the recent announcement of W. W. Muir for the office of county treasurer a statement was made in reference to one of the pieces of legislation which he claimed to have been instrumental in blocking its passage. This statement has aroused much comment among persons familiar with school affairs of the county, as the facts were somewhat carelessly handled. To that end the following has been prepared for publication in the Times-Mirror:

The Act of 1862 authorized school districts, upon proper application to Court, to take over the assets of any academy and use them in the construction of a high school. In 1895 a new high school building was projected for Warren Borough, and since the old Warren Academy had not been functioning for more than 30 years, it was felt only proper that the assets be turned into the school to help erect the high school building. The Court approved this and approximately $14,000 in cash and the Academy Lands were turned over to Warren schools.

The requirement under the Act of 1862 was that any school district taking academy money must offer educational facilities to other school districts in the county and could charge only the cost of tuition and text books, without a general overhead item.

A number of other academies closed their affairs this same way and the Supreme Court in the 1920s decided in the case of the Greensburg Academy, that the school district was bound to accept pupils whether it wanted to or not, since the Act of 1862 required it. Warren Borough has always accepted pupils.

The School Code of 1911 defined generally the cost of tuition which could be charged to very much as the Act of 1862 allowed. In 1925, however, the Legislature amended the School Code so that thereafter the cost of tuition to outside districts includes a 10% overhead charge. Shortly after this Act was passed, the question of this additional charge was brought before the Court here and Judge Arvid T. Crowley, 63-year-old alien property custodian, as the director.

4—Told all administrative officials that any time they disagree with another agency and "feel you should submit it to the press, I ask that when you release the statement for publication, you send me a letter of resignation." Minor officeholders who violate this are to be dismissed by their superiors, promptly, the president added.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized he was not deciding who was right in the battle which flared into the open June 29 and grew hotter and hotter by the day.

The president, in letters to Wallace and Jones, said there wasn't out "where the truth lies" in such matters. The important thing, he wrote, was to "clear the decks and to get on with the war at once."

A fresh start with new men, unencumbered by interagency dissension and bitterness.

Both principals accepted the president's rebuke without argument.

Wallace commented: "In wartime no one should question the overall wisdom of the commander-in-chief."

Said Jones: "I concur most heartily in the president's determination to have harmony and cooperation x x x (the new) director will find the affairs of all RFC agencies engaged in foreign purchases in excellent condition, functioning with a maximum of efficiency and at a minimum of expense."

Pennsylvania Farmers Are Meeting the Food Crisis

(Editor's note—This is the second of three articles showing how Pennsylvania's farmers are meeting the food crisis.)

BY MARTIN H. BRACKBILL
Harrisburg, July 15—(P)—A bumper hay crop is being harvested on Pennsylvania farms, agricultural leaders say, but whether it is a harbinger of other good crops to come is a question only time and the weather will decide. Warm sunshine following a wet spring resulted in a heavy stand of protein-rich alfalfa and clover crops, agriculture spokesmen report, but what effect the wet, cool weather had on other crop prospects is yet to be determined. "Farm production in Pennsylvania won't be any more than last year," predicted Miles Horst, state secretary of agriculture, "and it looks like less unless the weather should be very favorable."

Declaring that many factors have contributed to the present food production outlook, he said government policies on manpower, machinery, fertilizer and prices had discouraged many farmers from going all out on production. Clyde Zehner, vice chairman of the state war board, U. S. Department of Agriculture, said farmers in Pennsylvania have planted the acreages they said they would in all crops except oats, adding "the wet, cool spring prevented many farmers from getting that crop into the ground."

"Reports reaching us indicate that most farmers planted the acreage in soy beans and potatoes they said they would earlier in the year," Zehner explained. The 70,000 acres of planted soy beans are double the acreage of 1942.

The farm official observed it is still too early to forecast how much of the potato seed planted "rotted in the ground" but that the acreage had been increased by 22,000 acres to 211,000 acres this year.

Horst expects wheat production this year in the state will be the lowest since 1866 due to a high percentage of abandonment caused by alternate thawing and freezing last winter. Harsh winter weather also cut into fruit crop prospects, the department reporting a 49 per cent of normal peach production and a 62 per cent of normal apple crop.

Cherries, now being picked in many counties, are expected by the agriculture department's federal-state crop reporting service to produce 6,300 tons this year as compared with 9,300 tons last year, while an estimated crop of 322,000 bushels of pears is forecast as compared with 491,000 bushels a year ago.

Increased production also is reported by farm leaders in the livestock branch of Pennsylvania's agriculture, which in all its phases accounted for a cash return of $289,744,000 in 1942 as compared with a return of $101,300,000 for field crops.

Horst reported pigs being fattened on Pennsylvania have increased 30 per cent or 137,000 this spring while another increase of 288,000 this fall is indicated. He placed the number of hogs on state farms now at 598,000 and said there are prospects the number saved for fattening will reach 858,000.

"More pigs mean more feed," Horst asserted "if our farmers are attempting to raise 425,000 more pigs this year than last, as a contribution to the wartime food supply, they naturally are concerned about feed."

Poultry flocks also have doubled this year, the State War Board reported, with a resultant heavy increase in eggs and chickens for food. Turkey flocks also increased in number, although Mrs. Russell Bower, of the Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women, said growers "don't know if they'll be able to raise them to maturity" due to feed shortages.

Department reports on milk production show it continues to match that of a year ago with some dairymen forecasting liquidation of many dairy herds this fall unless adequate feed supplies are assured.

Vegetable acreage for canneries, the department of agriculture reported is ahead of that for last year. Snap beans, peas, tomatoes and sweet corn, while production of asparagus was 270,000 crates as compared with 264,000 crates last year and spring spinach 750,000 bushels as compared with 640,000 in 1942.

Acreage put in vegetables for direct sale to markets, however, was less this year in case of asparagus and cabbage, and greater in the case of lettuce, onions and spinach with no estimate available for snap beans.

Mrs. H. B. Eliason, chairman of the State Defense Council's victory garden committee, reported on the other hand that there has been no slackening of efforts on the part of the state's million or more victory gardeners who already are garnering the first fruits of their efforts.

Back from a tour of gardens in 15 counties recently, Mrs. Eliason said "people who started victory gardens are carrying through conscientiously. Practically all gardens seem to be well tended and gardeners are practicing cultivation and insect controls."

HUMBLE FARE TO DELICACY
Frogs' legs are now rich delicacies, but they were the discovery of the starving, poverty-stricken peasants who frantically sought food in the hard days before the French revolution. The peasants grouped in swampy pools to catch frogs, and preparing them with sauces, found the legs made palatable eating.

VALUABLE
Carbon forms only one-hundredth of 1 per cent of the earth's whole, but without it life would perish from the globe.

Mosquito Boat With Powerful Punch

Guarding the Panama Canal, this PT Boat can sink 'em, or blow 'em up. On the lookout for hostile submarines, the U. S. Navy mosquito boat skims through Caribbean waters patrolling for enemy marauders. It takes $145,000 of our money in War Bonds to build this boat for our vital protection.

The hearing is in line with a check up made by the department on fatal accidents and Mr. Whitten will be privileged to present witnesses in an effort to prove that the accident was unavoidable and that his license should not be forfeited.

Nurseries Are Feeling Pinch Due To War

Harrisburg, July 14—The Commonwealth's four State Forest Nurseries, feeling the effects of universal labor shortages coupled with unfavorable weather conditions, were able to attain only about half the goal of their 1943 Spring prospects of the seeding and transplanting of various trees. Deputy Secretary William E. Montgomery expressing concern over the slice in Pennsylvania's potential lumber pile, added optimistically that "the Department had been conducting ambitious programs for the past few years and the recent drop does not cut too deeply into our normal long-range program."

Montgomery said that the cut in activity would not "necessarily alter prospective post-war plans of the Department."

"Of the forest-tree variety, nurseries were able to transplant about 1,900,000 Red Pine, White Pine, Norway Spruce and White Spruce," he said.

"Employees were able to sow nearly all the forest tree seed stipulated by officials or about 620 pounds of eight different species."

State operated nurseries—Clearfield, Greenwood, Mont Alto and Penn—shipped 4,857,550 seedlings; 1,290,800 transplants; 1,866 ornamentals, and 395,570 game food plants to various parts of the State during the Spring months. Montgomery said, or a total of 6,455,795 young trees.
